Profile

Hello, my name is Silje, I am 27 years old and I'm a full-time student at Noroff Vocational School in Bergen, currently at my second and last year.

I started my web-development journey in 2019 joining a web development course for beginners. I thought it was very exciting and enjoyable. I quickly found out how many challenges it would offer me, so I knew that when I finished the course in a year, I wanted to continue on this path to learn more.

The decision I made back in 2019, has led me here, today, writing my CV. Whoever reads this will have a different today than the day I call today, and my today is when I was writing this CV, is January 1st 2023.
